SUMMER 2022 FIELD STUDIES

Summer 2022 Field Studies planning is in full swing with three exciting options! Contact the course instructor for details. Do not delay!

GEOL 360: Field Studies Western US (overview)

Dates: May 17 – June 4
Instructor: Dr. John Chadwick (chadwickj@cofc.edu)

Domestic Field Studies Scholarship (search Royal A. Hartenberger*): deadline January 25, 2022

GEOL 366: Field Studies Wyoming Paleontology (overview)

Dates: May 17 - June 7
Instructor: Dr. Scott Persons (personss@cofc.edu)

Domestic Field Studies Scholarship (search Royal A. Hartenberger*): deadline January 25, 2022

GEOL 364: Field Studies Environmental Geology and Water Resources in India (overview [scroll to Asia: CofC in India])

Dates: May 23 – June 14
Instructor: Dr. Vijay Vulava (vulavav@cofc.edu)

Center for International Education Scholarships: deadline February 15, 2022
* The Royal A. Hartenberger Award in Geology is an "auto-match" type award. That means when you submit the General Application in CSAS (Cougar Scholarship Awarding System), you will be automatically added to the applicant list for the Hartenberger award if you meet the auto-match qualifications specific to that award.

KUDOS

- Happening now! Dr. Scott Harris arranged a SonarWiz workshop in SSMB with Chesapeake Technologies in which students are participating and networking with industry professionals. Staff from that firm and related partners are also having an exhibition describing the marine geology, marine services, and the energy sector projects that they do, and opportunities for our students for careers in these fields.
- Dr. Teddy Them has been invited to be an Associate Editor for 2022-2024 for the journal Geology!
- Dr. Teddy Them and Dr. Scott Harris were featured in The College Today for their GEOL 312: Environmental Field Methods field trip to Tennessee.

CHECK IT OUT

The Fall 2021 Philanthropia e-publication is live featuring cover story Camille Sullivan '22, geology major and recipient of the College of Charleston’s first-ever Paleontology Scholarship (the College's first-ever crowd-funded scholarship)! Go straight to pages 12-13 for details from Camille and her scholarship mentor, Dr. Scott Persons, and a shout-out to Camille’s summer research mentor, Dr. Adem Ali!

THEN flip to pages 20-21 for ANOTHER feature story on geology major, Kesli Kruzel '22, the first recipient of the Geology Alumni Endowed Award (GAEA). Read more about the alumni-initiated award and Kesli’s environmental geochemistry research project with mentor Dr. Vijay Vulava!
