FALL 2022 ADVISING AND REGISTRATION

Registration for Fall 2022 begins on March 29, 2022 by assigned entry date for all currently enrolled undergraduate students. Registration opens at 8:00 am Eastern Standard Time on the designated dates below. The registration entry date schedule is based on earned hours. This does not include the hours in which you are currently enrolled.

The Fall 2022 schedule can be viewed in MyPortal (https://myportal.cofc.edu/). Visit the Geology & Environmental Geosciences Academic Information webpage for Fall 2022 Advising Guides and course flyers.

All Geology (GEOL) and Environmental Geosciences (GENV) majors have an advising hold each semester. Students should contact their Geology & Environmental Geosciences faculty advisor for an advising appointment. Your advising hold will not be lifted until you have communicated with your advisor about your Fall 2022 plan. It is recommended that students meet with their advisor by Wednesday, March 23th to avoid delays in removing advising holds.

Advising holds will be placed using a start date of March 28th. This means that students will not see the advising hold in MyPortal or MyCharleston until that date, but the hold is there and will prevent you from registering if you have not communicated with your advisor.

Geology & Environmental Geosciences majors who are also majors in other departments, must communicate with their GEOL or GENV advisor to have their advising hold removed. Communicating with one major advisor will not lift an advising hold for another department. For example, if a GEOL (Geology) major who is also an MBIO (Marine Biology) major only meets with their MBIO major advisor, their GEOL advising hold will not be lifted.
